

MANAGEMENT

Level 5 Course Outline

The industry requires competent professionals that have the skill set to manage their sports turf facilities. Plan for a sustainable future by ensuring your management staff have the appropriate skill base in the current economic climate.

The National Certificate qualification Level 5 is New Zealand Qualifications Authority (NZQA) recognised and provides an essential stepping stone to developing the business acumen, turf knowledge and skills of sports turf facility managers. It is intended to develop management skills to enable people to work confidently in management roles. It takes approximately 21 months to complete, and incorporates 70 credits.

Who is it for?

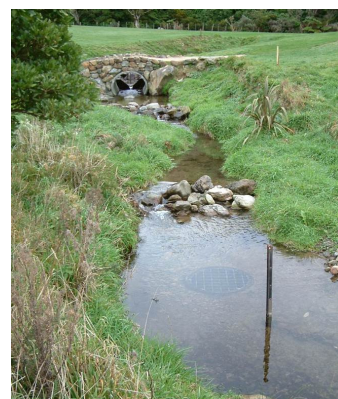

This training programme is aimed at people who work in management positions or have management responsibility.

This qualification is primarily for sports turf professionals who require recognition of specific sports turf management, land based environmental management or business skills that will enable them to work in management positions in the sports turf industry.

What sets this apart from other qualifications?

- ✓ Flexible structure
- ✓ Content based on needs assessment undertaken at your workplace
- ✓ Tailored to suit learners skill level
- ✓ Highly relevant
- ✓ Benefits both the participant and the sports turf facility

Participants will develop their confidence to manage their facility, to understand their business and its future direction. The skills and knowledge learnt can be directly applied to their job. The end results will be a return on investment for the employer and a nationally recognised qualification at Level 5 for the participant.

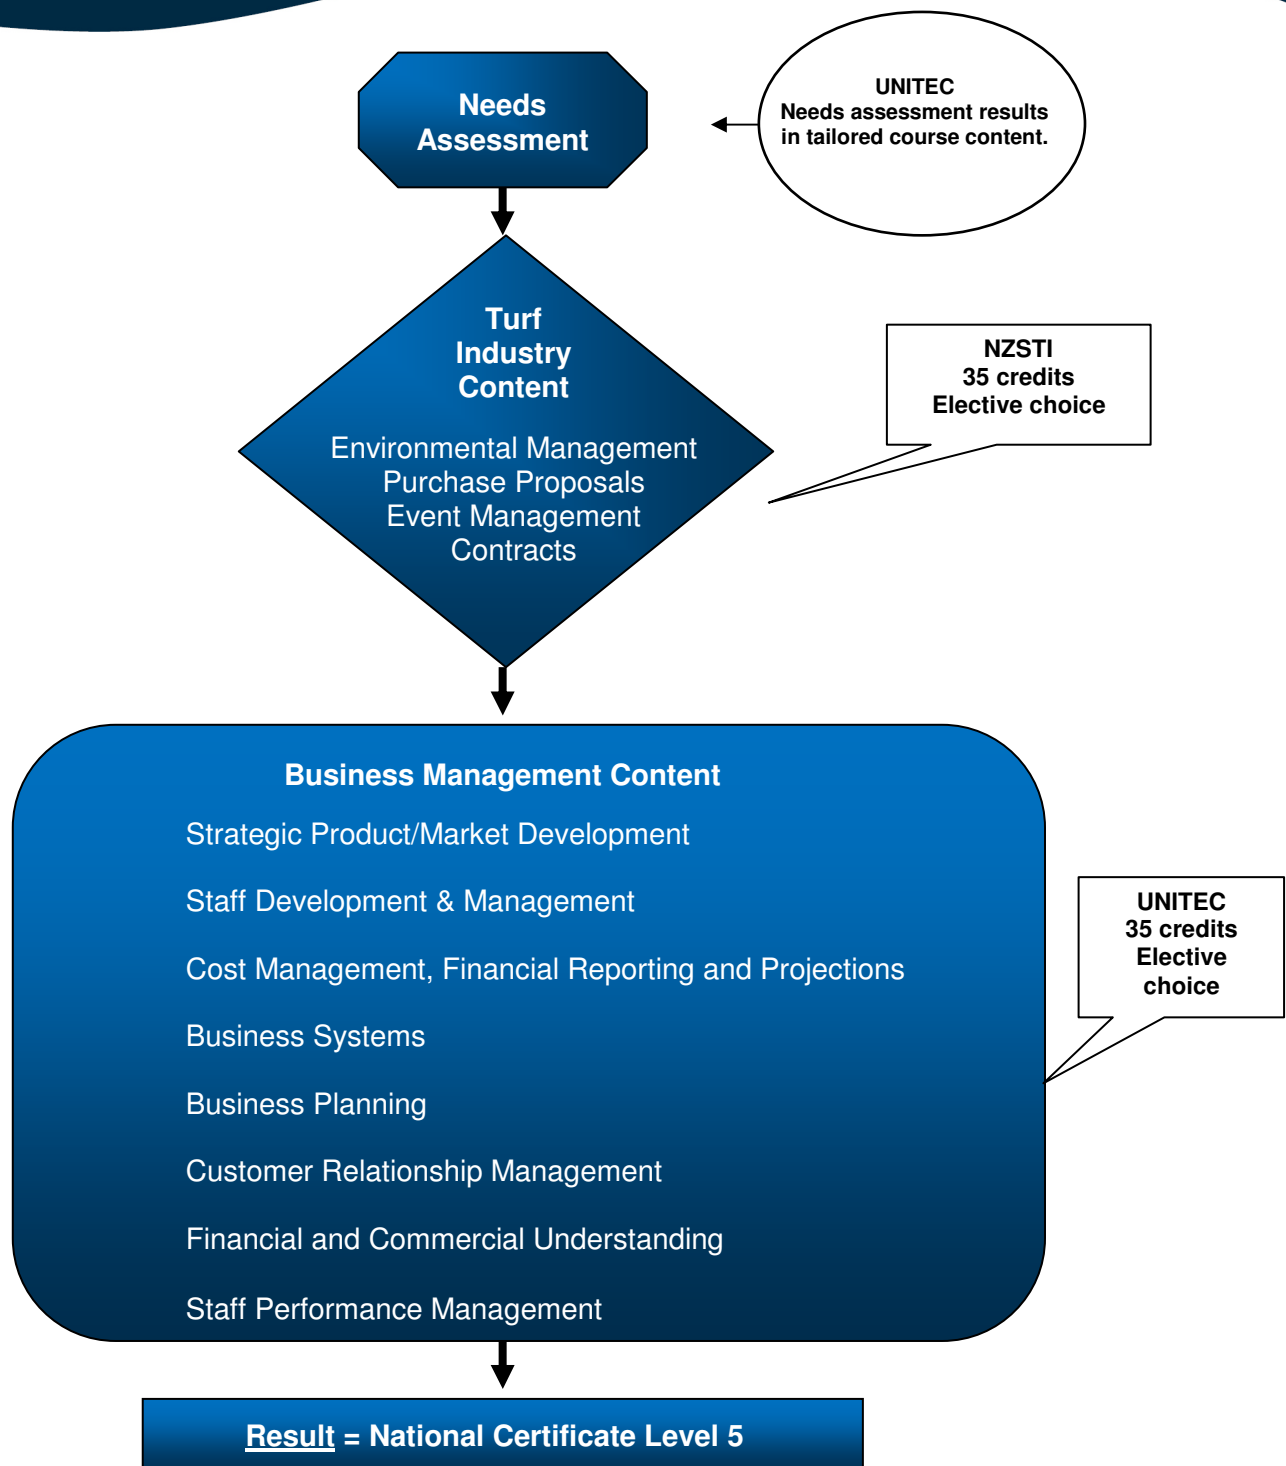

How much?

This programme is $1,500 excl. GST. This represents value for money at $71 for each month of the 21 month programme. Flexible payment options are available.

Learning support: During the programme, participants network with tutors and other course participants on-line to improve their understanding of the content, and to apply what is being learnt to the workplace.
